

OFFICIAL

An opportunity exists for a First Nations, Police Liaison Officer (PLO), position supporting the Queensland Police Service (QPS), in the Townsville District, Crime Prevention and Engagement Team!

- Are you an excellent communicator?
- Do you have a passion for community engagement?
- Interested in working crime prevention?
- Do you have an open class C drivers Licence?

You will play a key role in establishing and maintaining positive rapport between culturally specific communities and the QPS, with a particular focus to the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples within the Townsville community.

As a First Nations PLO in the Townsville District, you will join an established team of PLOs aimed at working together towards providing a safer Townsville through connected and engaged relationships.

My name is Courtney Sullivan, My first nations background, where my mob is from, is Yulluna and Kalkadoon based out in Cloncurry and Mount Isa. I'm 22 years old, I love going to the gym and spending time with my friends and family and most of all, I love helping/supporting other people. I have thoroughly enjoyed my role as a PLO in Townsville and have learnt many skills and have been through various experiences. The reason why I joined the Queensland Police Service was to continue to follow my passion of supporting and giving back to my community and being there to help people when they need it. This was not the only reason though, as my mother has been in the Queensland Police Service for 11 years as a sworn officer, and she is my idol, someone I want to be like when I'm older. I love how every shift as a PLO is different! One day you could be assisting an elderly person with getting some deadlocks for their house, going to a school to talk to the kids about Road Safety, assisting with traffic control at a traffic crash, brainstorming new ideas to help try and prevent youth crime, the list goes on. I love what I do and continue to help as many people as I can every day.

This is an identified position. It is a genuine occupational requirement that an Identified position be filled by an Aboriginal or Torres Strait Islander person.

Apply now: Applications can be submitted through www.smartjobs.qld.gov.au or can be emailed directly to: PLORecruitment@police.qld.gov.au

Please submit your Resume along with a one-page cover letter outlining how your previous experience may contribute to our commitment towards community engagement and crime prevention.

Hand delivered applications are also welcomed and can be submitted locally, through:

- Palm Island, Townsville and Kirwan Police Stations

Please ensure that your application is provided in a large envelope to ensure confidentiality and addressed to: PLO Recruitment – Palm Island.

Applicant information kits and copies of the role description can be requested from the above locations or through emailing: PLORecruitment@police.qld.gov.au directly.

Emailed applications should also be addressed to: PLO Recruitment – Palm Island.

This position is based: @Palm Island.

For more information, please call 07 47599339.

OFFICIAL